PDQ Signature Systems Partners with Payment Processing, Inc. to Enhance Card Data Security and Ease-of-Use

Latest PDQ POS version with advanced security functionality now available

Newtown, PA – November 16, 2010 – Signature Systems, Inc. announces a strategic development partnership with Payment Processing, Inc. (PPI). The companies have integrated the PPI PayMover hosted payment platform with PDQ POS point-of-sale software from Signature Systems for the quick service restaurant industry. The resulting functionality allows merchants to process electronic payments easily while vastly improving transaction security.

Leveraging PPI's Point-2-Point Cardholder Data Security Program, PDQ POS utilizes Managed Payer Data for recurring business, allowing the storage of the credit card data on PPI's secure servers, significantly reducing risk for the merchant and the restaurant customer. PDQ POS is a validated Payment Application Data Security Standard (PA-DSS) application, compliant with the global security standard created by the Payment Card Industry Security Standards Council. In addition to security upgrades, the point-of-sale application provides integrated credit and debit card processing, and gift card programs.

“Quick service restaurants are often prime targets for criminals seeking to steal sensitive credit card data,” states Eddie Myers, PPI President. “Signature Systems has not only achieved PCI compliance, but has integrated advanced security features from PPI into the application. That shifts liability away from the merchants and establishes a much safer environment for accepting electronic payments.”

According to Joe Flynn, President of Signature Systems, helping customers maintain security and productivity is a top priority: “PPI offers a PCI compliance program with an extra level of security, providing a complete end-to-end solution critical to running a well-protected business in today's world.”
